

Dr. Murphy Summary Copy

OOH Sections of Interest:

The finest factors that aid in profile building include job descriptions, education and training requirements, work environment, pay, and comparable occupations.

Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Handbook:

I now know which jobs are simple to obtain after browsing the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics website.

I now have a better understanding of how much a person (or employee) will make after using the Security Analysis Link. Additionally, it describes the tasks performed by information security analysts and their working environment. Additionally, it has information on how to become an information security analyst as well as pay, job outlook, state and local data, similar occupations, additional information, and links to the internet.

I now have a better understanding of how much a person (or employee) will make after reading the Computer Programmers Link. Additionally, it describes the tasks performed by information security analysts and their working environment. Additionally, it has information on how to become an information security analyst as well as pay, job outlook, state and local data, similar occupations, additional information, and links to the internet.

Data Set:

N/A

Visualization:

If the data is accurate, then we can do visualization on it.